

Starting a business is an exciting and rewarding challenge. Being an entrepreneur is all about taking an idea and growing that idea into an established company. There are lots of decisions and details and options to consider. It's important to review all the business formation options when choosing your entity structure, from a sole proprietor to an S-Corp, each has advantages and disadvantages that can have tax and legal consequences. Obtaining affordable financing and determining whether to buy or lease equipment and business space, are all considerations that will impact your bottom line. You will need accurate record-keeping, reporting, and procedures to launch your business successfully.

SVA has the expertise to assist you with making strategic decisions as you work through the various aspects of starting your business. Our professionals can help you look at the big picture while paying attention to the details that will enable your success. You can rely on SVA's accounting, tax, and business consulting services to guide you through the many decisions you need to make today that will impact your business in the future. Download SVA's business startup guide and let us know if we can assist you.